

Connecting your Facebook profile to your fan page. (great for businesses)

I'll provide a simple method and a link to a tool for use in Firefox or Chrome. I'm not sure what might be available for IE or Safari, but the simple method doesn't require any special software or browser tools.

Think of all the profiles that are out there of people that own Fan Pages and when you go to click "work" on their personal profile- it takes you to a blank page with their business name but nothing useful. I honestly don't see the benefit of them yet. This should not take ...any longer than 15 minutes,

Let's make this change!

Steps:

1. First note the exact name of your page, note the "name" of your page. Not the id or link, you will need the name including spaces, dashes, etc.
2. Log into your Facebook account.
3. Click profile on your personal page.
4. Underneath your name and slightly to the right, click "Edit Profile".
5. Select Education and Work on the left hand side.
6. Click Edit on the right
7. Locate the box that reads "Employer." Click inside the text box to place your cursor and type the exact name of the fan page.
8. Press "Enter" to open the employment details.
9. At the top of the Employment Details page to see the name of the employer. Hopefully you will see your fan page, as well as the icon for your fan page. If you don't see it, delete the employer and try again. Again, you have to use the exact "name" of the page.
10. Complete any additional work information in the available boxes and "Save."

Select and view your profile. You will now see your business fan page as a link on your personal profile. Test it and see.

Come take a look at our Fan Page, too. www.facebook.com/bethedreamllc There is more available if you need help. Although cash is king, barter is queen and I'm open for either.

The tool I mentioned earlier is here: <http://chrispederick.com/work/web-developer/> and all the instructions for use are there as well. Here are instructions on how to use it:
